Causas do Comportamento Anormal

Preparamos o caminho para um exame das causas do comportamento anormal, do desenvolvimento deficiente e tensão excessiva. Temos 3 tipos de “PERTURBADORES”

3) SOCIOGÊNICA: os fatores sociológicos, por exemplo, as privações econômica e cultural, provocam deformações no desenvolvimento ou criam tensões excessivamente grandes para o ajustamento saudável. Os fatores causais são também frequentemente divididos em causas que precipitam e causas que predisõem à doenças.

Pathos: Do grego. Sofrimento, mal.

Logos: Do grego. Estudo, racional.

Significado

Objeto de Estudo

A psicopatologia estuda os nossos desvios da norma, e, quando ocorre, é decorrente da falta de consciência do normal.

O que é norma?

At the bottom of the PDF window, there are icons for Microfone, Câmera, Tela, and Saí. A status bar at the bottom left indicates "Prof. Cleto está apresentando".

The screenshot shows a Zoom meeting interface with four participants in a row: Luciano Debastiani, Carolina Maria, denil, and Kerlen Rego. The main window displays a presentation slide. On the right side of the slide, there is a text box with the following content:

Cícero no livro "Divinatione" observa que a arte divinatória era bastante apreciada na antiga Roma e que os adivinhos romanos usavam o "lituus" - uma vara em forma de cajado. Vitruvius Pollio no oitavo livro da obra "De Architectura" (aprox. 27 a 16 a.C.), descreve extensamente as técnicas usadas para a localização de fontes, mananciais e jazidas, sugerindo o uso de práticas radiestésicas.

Os Aspecto Éticos no Livro da Ordem de Cavalaria

- No sexto capítulo, Lull discorre sobre os costumes que pertencem ao cavaleiro. Aqui, a ética cavalheiresca fica mais em evidência, sobretudo, quando o Doutor Iluminado discorre sobre seu sistema ético com base nos contrários virtude-vício para fundamentar os valores que devem nortear a vida do bom cavaleiro a serviço da fé cristã;
- A ética luliana era construída por meio de contrários, a chamada ética da polaridade, por meio dos princípios de concordância e contrariedade, de perfeição e imperfeição que podiam encontrar-se no substrato ideológico da época, baseada na disputa entre vícios e virtudes;
- O pensamento ético luliano, através de uma ética social cavalheiresca, baseada nas contrariedades, conforme afirma o Professor Esteve Jaulent;

ESTUDO

Células-tronco são eficazes para tratamento de dor neuropática

Um estudo publicado pela revista científica "Saúde e Tecnologia" concluiu que as células são eficazes no tratamento de dores. De acordo com os autores, o corpo humano é composto por milhares de células, dentre essas milhares, existem as denominadas células-tronco, que possuem a capacidade de dar origem a diversos tecidos e são responsáveis por formar nossos órgãos.

Diante disso, o artigo comprova que através desse potencial regenerador das células-tronco sobre as células nervosas, as células-tronco desempenham um efeito terapêutico sobre as neuropatias, que são consequências de disfunções ou lesões no sistema nervoso.

"Estudos recentes corroboram que a administração de células-tronco pode levar à redução de dores neuropáticas comportamentais não só em modelos experimentais, mas também com mas também com a neuropatia diabética", diz trecho do estudo.

O artigo teve como objetivo principal revisar a literatura sobre quais as formas e quais as utilidades de células-tronco para tratamento de dores neuropáticas. A partir disso, os autores concluíram que existem diversos registros que corroboram os efeitos positivos obtidos no tratamento para dor neuropática utilizando células-tronco transplantadas da medula óssea para diferentes tratamentos de dores, mas ressalta-se que mais pesquisas devem ser feitas sobre o assunto para padronização do tratamento.

Dados do estudo - De acordo com o artigo, os dados pré-clínicos demonstram efeitos positivos das células-tronco para aliviar a dor neuropática, demonstram também que a dor neuropática periférica é mais responsiva utilizando tratamento com células-tronco do que a dor ocasionada por lesão central como por exemplo a lesão medular. O tratamento nem sempre é capaz de conferir efeitos positivos quanto à recuperação motora dos pacientes, indicando que existem outros mecanismos subjacentes condicionando esses diferentes efeitos. É ressaltado também como o tratamento com células-tronco tem uma resposta rápida e duradoura quanto ao alívio da dor.

O estudo foi realizado pelo médico ortopedista Luiz Felipe Chaves Carvalho e pelo PhD em neurociências Fabiano de Abreu Aguiar, ambos membros da Logos University International.

Homeless people suffer more mental health problems than other groups. This is due to the situation to which they are subjected, an extreme space of emotional insecurity influenced by different determinants, as well as by the complicated psychiatric care. The public policies is complex with regard to the care of their people suffering in Brazil, particularly linked to the social inequalities where this population is constantly exposed. Consequently, 68% to 85% of homeless people have a mental health problem with some type of chemical dependency and/or concomitant emotional disorders.^{1,2,3} Notably, 45% of the homeless people commit suicide and 9% to 29% have attempted suicide.⁴

It is important to highlight that in vulnerable living environments, exclusion, fear, and loneliness are diverse, as well as undiagnosed psychiatric disorders and that these urgent needs for psychotherapy lead to serious mental health outcomes.⁵ If we observe, physical and social conditions act greatly in the daily lives of homeless people, caused, partly by lack of financial resources, social and legal support, and the constant

Being part of Unilogos' history, starting as a student and today as a professor, has been an honor and a great privilege. To carry out the mission I assumed, to awaken and transform people through knowledge, through a modern University, with an innovative teaching methodology adapted to reality, which values good and lasting relationships, and also contemplate the evolution of our students. , it's a joy that doesn't fit in the chest. I am immensely grateful to UNILOGOS!

Grasielle Reisdorfer

I am very proud to be part of Unilogos as a student and collaborator. It is gratifying to be in the text revision sector and closely follow the evolution of students in written academic productions. The methodology helps a lot so that the student can be a researcher with notoriety - through the incentives for publications in the Academic Journal of Unilogos, in addition to other publications in the University's own Publishing House. Without a doubt, one of the best choices and opportunities I had in my academic and professional career.

University professor since 2005, my career was changed in 2019 when I started working at Unilogos as an associate professor in the international master's and doctoral program in Public Health with an emphasis on Physical Education.

Today, 4 years after this beginning of internationalization of my curriculum, I realize the evolution and importance of an international university in professional and personal growth. I have acted as international coordinator of the Master's and Doctoral programs in Physical Education and was able to work with this innovative and extremely effective methodology in the training of people with research, reflection and production capacity.

Added to this are lectures, dissertations and theses defenses, granting of titles of commendations and Doctorates Honoris causa and this reflects the transparency and rectitude that guides the life of Logos University International – UNILOGOS and of everyone involved with it.

The activities carried out in face-to-face environments, online events, social media, events around the globe, accreditations, partnerships, recognition and, above all, the sum of efforts for the common good are the mortar that sustains and consolidates the strength and beauty with which we work. in full harmony for the sake of science, research, learning and improving everyone's lives.

Long live UNILOGOS!

Unilogos is always a divisor in the lives of those who pass through it. There is always a before and after of Unilogos and certainly everyone who passes through here, whether as a student or as a teacher (or both), has their life story changed, and for the better.

"No phase lasts forever, whether for good or for bad", and "Every student is a being with light", phrases from our magnificent dean Dr. Gabriel who reflect, in addition to being a leader committed to education and development, a pioneer, proactive, creative, unifying and, above all, human being.

Very proud to be part of this history and this team. Gratitude.

I am grateful to God for UNILOGOS that I met around 2012, and I have been privileged to be a part of it since 2016, contributing in some way, whether in course programs, teaching, organizing events.

Unilogos is a university committed to excellence and purpose in higher education. The growth of Unilogos is natural and at great strides, having the great vision of its President. Dr. Gabriel C. Lopes and many collaborators such as professors, deans, directors, ambassadors in many countries of the world.

I can say that this great university has been my personal and intellectual growth, as well as that of so many other people! Unilogos is synonymous with quality education and also with opportunity! As part of the Cognitions Magazine Board of Directors and Research Council, I was able to broaden my vision of academic life and the tireless work of higher education that really brings a positive impact on the society where teachers and students are inserted, covering much more than the territory American, reaching countries in Latin America, Central America, Europe, Asia and countries in Africa. There are so many alliances and agreements that it is difficult to follow all this development.

"Science is man's progressive approach to the real world". Max Planck, Physicist. UniLogos operates in a unique way in the world, with coordinated freedom in research, through the curatorship of teaching, and has been bringing relevant scientific productions, sharing knowledge through major events and publications, disseminating an impacting technological, current education, which makes part of the teaching, research and extension of any university that makes a difference.

The honors I received and which I was able to participate, which were given to outstanding people in society, move us and lead us to believe in the best in people.

UniLogos is a family, a big family and is open to new members. Welcome to UniLogos

I am honored to write this testimonial for Logos University International (Unilogos). The first time I saw the website of Unilogos, it caught my attention right away because of its methodology or higher education model known as Knowledge Curatorship. It teaches students to "produce" something that will contribute to the field and to the communities. I am very impressed with how Unilogos connected this methodology of "Study, Reflection and Production" with the statement of Jean Piaget, "The main objective of education is to create people who are able to do new things and not simply repeat what other generations have done." I strongly believe in this philosophy that we need to create or produce something that will benefit the people and the world that we live in. This is also aligned with Unilogos' "suae quisque fortuna faber est," which means "Each man is the maker of his fortune."

As an educator, leader and a practitioner in my field, I work hard to build my career or my "fortune" by creating or producing something for the betterment of the communities that I interact with. One of the best honors that I have had in my career has been the "Honorary Professor" award that I received from Unilogos in 2021. Dr. Gabriel Lopes has recognized my accomplishments and contributions (what I have "created" or "produced" all these years) in the field of health science education.

Dr. Lopes is a great leader, educator and entrepreneur. These qualities fit perfectly for a university president who leads Logos University International. One of the great accomplishments of Dr. Lopes as the president of Unilogos, has been the accreditation of the university and the affiliations or partnerships with other reputable, well-recognized and accredited universities.

Thank you Unilogos, and thank you Dr. Lopes. From the bottom of my heart, I wish Unilogos and its partner organizations and institutions a big success as we continue to move to a new era of education through distance education and technology.

I have been coordinator and professor of the Graduate Program in Education at UniLogos since 2018, and since my entry into the institution, I have realized how graduate education in Education can provide, through research and Science, perspectives for a critical and in-depth education. of education professionals from another area who seek their professional fulfillment in this area.

UniLogos has a strong social mission as its mission and, in this way, provides many postgraduate students with the opportunity to pursue a master's or doctorate with quality and affordability. In this sense, our methodologies are active, dialogic and problematizing paths of the realities experienced, with interdisciplinary profiles of professors, attending to individual profiles of graduate students, in which they have individual and unique characteristics and, therefore, thinking about each educational process is necessary in the face of the multiple experiences of students that are valued during their journey. Such an educational process, both in the Curricular Axis and in the Research Axis, supports the autonomous construction of scientific knowledge and, therefore, forms for human emancipation through research, educational and social inclusion.

I am a professor and advisor in the area of Education and Health-Neuroscience. I have been at UNILOGOS since 2020 and the advisees who have become masters, mainly in education, are public school teachers with projects that can improve the quality of education in the context in which they work. This shows the mission of UNILOGOS, highlighting the active methodology in which teacher and student, through dialogue and problematization, trace their path of reading and writing. The seriousness with regard to the legal aspects of document validation, plus the requirement of academic rigor provides security and quality of research, as well as the visible change of students in relation to the object of study.

Logos University International is an impeccable academic institution of knowledge that deserves my utmost respect in every capacity. Dr. Gabriel Lopes is a great leader and I sincerely thank him for the honorary professorship that he bestowed upon me. I believe that Logos University International encompasses many major multidisciplinary facets of education. It is the university of the future of innovative learning where graduates create new concepts and ideas, methods, practical applications, and community-oriented projects. It would be my honor to serve in a capacity where I will develop curricula, conduct scholarly activities, and contribute them to Unilogos educational programs and publications. I am confident that my expertise in health sciences would certainly benefit the university's vision, mission and philosophy.

Logos University International represents innovation in the way of teaching, academic dynamism and seriousness in its methodological processes. I am part of a multidisciplinary team that dialogues with what is most contemporary in the universe of knowledge. Being Unilogos is, for me, a social commitment because I am sure that its institutional proposal transforms lives.

Ana Maria Mareques Palagi

The experiences lived in the orientations at UniLogos took place with graduate students of different profiles, which respects the individuality of each one. However, I point out as a methodology, initially it is necessary to have empathy, which involves listening to the student, his story - also of life - and the availability to serve him, also respecting his possibilities, usually due to work schedules.

Another fundamental issue is to understand and respect the student who is in a different position from that of the theoretical-methodological advisor and, thus, begin to build the research plan. In my experiences, the orientations occur by videoconference, recorded - with the open text, in which the student follows the notes and orientations - at the end the recording is sent to the advisee, because he is in the training process. At the end of the orientation, it is the student who should feel their growth and empowerment.
